

Sole Provider Attestation Letter

To Whom This May Concern,

On behalf of Les Solutions Innov2Learn Inc., I hereby certify that the Glucolll (SKU: GLU03), a simulated glucometer, developed and produced by our company, is, as of today and to the best of our knowledge, the sole simulator of its kind.

This tangible/true-feel device has been specifically designed to display a pretended reading on standardized patients (actors) and manikins (either animated/robotic or not). It can accept any kind of test strip, provided that it fits inside the slot, and can be used with real blood, artificial blood, or without blood.

The Glucolll is Bluetooth remote-controlled, powered by a rechargeable battery, and requires operation through a mobile application available on the App Store and Google Play/Play Store, as well as through a web-based application on computers, electronic tablets, and mobile phones.

Yours Sincerely,

Mike Boutin, CEO at Innov2Learn
